PREFACE.

Enumeration Abstract.

THE fifth decennial Census of the population of Great Britain was taken on the 7th of June, 1841, under the authority of two Acts of Parliament, viz. 3 and 4 Vict. cap. 99, and 4 Vict. cap. 7.

It may be necessary to give a sketch of the machinery by means of which the present Census of the Population of Great Britain has been taken, inasmuch as it differs very materially from that which was adopted on former occasions.

In the years 1801, 1811, 1821, and 1831, the Overseers of the Poor in the several parishes were the parties directed by the respective Acts of Parliament to furnish the information required for England and Wales,—a body of men, in many parts of the country, fully competent to the task thus imposed upon them, and anxious to discharge it to the best of their ability; but in some districts, from want of education, or habits of business, and from ignorance of the importance and real object of the inquiry they were conducting, essentially unfitted for it. The mode and form in which the information was to be procured and returned by them, differed entirely from the plan adopted in 1841. Questions referring to the numbers, ages, and occupations of the persons to be enumerated within their parishes were delivered to them, to which they were to return answers, the result of their own inquiries, while the work was directed to be performed by them day after day, if one day was found insufficient, till answers to all the queries were obtained.

Upon the present occasion, the information required, embraced not only the particulars furnished in 1831, but also the exact age, occupation, and place of birth of each person; the Act moreover directed that the business of numbering the people should be completed "in one day," in order to obviate the chance of inaccuracy from omissions or double entries to which the extension of the inquiry over a greater period might have given rise.

The Census Act, 3 and 4 Vict. cap. 99, directed that the Officers of the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, throughout England and Wales, should be employed under our orders in carrying out the arrangements required under this new system.

By means of the Superintendent-Registrars and Registrars, the whole of England and Wales was, in accordance with directions furnished by us, divided into Enumeration Districts, the boundaries of which were strictly defined, each being regulated as to its extent by the varying circumstances of facility of communication or density of population, but so that it should contain not more than 200, and not less than 25 inhabited houses; while in no case should it include a larger extent of country (where houses were scattered over a thinly populated district) than an active man could travel over between morning and sunset on a summer's day, and obtain from each person dwelling therein all the particulars required by the Act.

To the office of Enumerator, was appointed by the Registrars, (subject to our approval,) one individual for each of these sub-divisions, selected from the neighbourhood, with reference to his particular fitness for the office. In consequence of the small size to which these districts were necessarily limited, no less than 35,000 such persons were required for England and Wales; and a careful inspection of the Schedules returned by them has enabled us to announce that notwithstanding the large number of persons thus to be selected, their duties were carefully and intelligently discharged.

All public institutions, barracks, gaols, and workhouses, were, in accordance with the provisions of the Act, directed to be enumerated by the several officers residing therein.

Schedules were furnished to the Enumerators, and to the heads of each Public Institution, in which they were to enter—not the answers to a set of questions applicable to their particular division, as in 1831—but the actual

Each Schedule contained a sufficient number of these pages to embrace the Census of the District, each page containing 25 lines.

Directions given as to the Manner in which Entries were to be made in the Enumeration Schedule.

After "City or Borough of" write the name, if the District is in a City or Borough; if not, draw a line through those words, or through whichever of the two the District does not belong to. After "Parish or Township of" write the name; if there is no Township in the Parish, draw a line through "Township;" if it is a Township, write the name of the Township, and draw a line through "Parish." If it is Extra-Parochial, draw a line through "Parish or Township of," and write "Extra-Parochial" over those words, and after it the name.

description of each person who had slept within it on the night preceding the 7th of June, 1841, with reference to each head of inquiry.

The whole of these schedules were ordered to be returned to us, after having been examined by the several Registrars, and submitted to, and countersigned by, the Superintendent-Registrars.

In the column headed "Place," write the name of the house (if it has a name), or of the street or other part of the town, or of the village, hamlet, or extra-parochial place in which it stands, opposite to the mark denoting each house, or the first house in the street, &c., and write do." opposite to every other in the same street, &c.

"Houses."—Insert houses uninhabited or building in the manner shown in the Example, writing "1 U." or "1 B.," as the case may be, in the proper column, opposite to the inhabited house to which each stands nearest. Every house which is unoccupied at the time of your visit, and is believed not to have been slept in the night before, may be inserted as uninhabited. New houses, not yet inhabited, may be inserted as "Building." Where there is a row of such houses, the total number may be inserted before the letter B., instead of the separate insertion of each.

By "House" is meant Dwelling-House; and every building in which any person habitually sleeps must be considered as a dwelling-house; but buildings, such as churches or warehouses, or any others which were never used, or intended to be used, as dwelling-houses, must not be inserted.

"Names of each Person who abode therein the preceding night."—Insert, without distinction or omission, every living person who abode or slept in each house. Leave no blank spaces between the names, but enter each immediately after the one preceding it, so that each page may contain 25. Set down one after the other those who have the same surname, beginning with the heads of the family, and put no others between them. As long as the surname is the same do not repeat it, but write "do." Where there are more christian names than one, as "John William," or "Maria Louisa," write down only the first.

When the person is a Peer or Peeress, the title may be written instead of the name. The words "Lord," "Lady," "Sir," "Rt. Hon.," "Hon.," may be put before the names of those to whom they belong.

If no christian name has been given to an infant, write "n. k." for not known, as in Example.

If, as may happen in a lodging-house or inn, a person who slept there the night before has gone away early, and the name is not known, write "n. k." where the name should have been.

At the end of the names of each family draw a line thus /, as in Example. At the end of the names of the inmates in each house draw a double line, thus //.

"Age and Sex."—Write the age of each person opposite to the name in one of the two columns headed "Males and Females," according to the sex.

Write the age of every person under 15 years of age as it is stated to you. For persons aged fifteen years and upwards, write the lowest of the term of 5 years within which the age is. Thus, for Persons aged—

15 years and under 20 write 15	45 years and under 50 write 45
20 years and under 25 write 20	50 years and under 55 write 50
25 years and under 30 write 25	55 years and under 60 write 55
30 years and under 35 write 30	60 years and under 65 write 60
35 years and under 40 write 35	65 years and under 70 write 65
40 years and under 45 write 40	70 years and under 75 write 70

and so on up to the greatest ages.

If no more can be ascertained respecting the age of any person than that the person is a child, or is grown up, write "under 20," or "above 20," as the case may be.

"Profession, Trade, Employment, or of Independent Means."—Men, or widows, or single women, having no profession or calling, but living on their means, may be inserted as independent, which may be written shortly thus, "Ind."

The profession, &c., of wives, or of sons or daughters living with their husbands or parents, and assisting them, but not apprenticed or receiving wages, need not be set down.

All persons serving in Her Majesty's Land service as officers or privates in the Line, Cavalry, Engineers, or Artillery, may be entered as "Army," without any statement of their rank, adding "H. P." for Half Pay, and "P." for Pensioner.

All persons belonging to Her Majesty's Sea service, including Marines, may be entered as "Navy," adding "H. P." for Half Pay, and "P." for Pensioner.

All domestic servants may be entered as "M.S." for Male Servant, or "F. S." for Female Servant, without statement of their particular duties, as whether butler, groom, gardener, housekeeper, cook, &c. &c.

Insert all other professions, trades, or employments, as they are described by the parties, or by others on their behalf, writing "J." for Journeymen, "Ap." for Apprentice, and "Sh." for Shopman, after the statement of the trade of those who are such. "Master" need not be inserted; every one will be so considered who is not entered as journeyman or apprentice.

Time may be saved by writing the following words shortly: thus, "M." for Manufacturer, "m." for Maker, as "Shoem." for Shoemaker, "Cl." for Clerk, "Ag. lab." for Agricultural labourer, which may include all farming servants and labourers in husbandry. Use no other marks or abbreviations but those herein allowed.

Rank, or any such term as "Esq." or "Gentleman," must not be entered in this column.

"Where Born.—Whether in the same County."—Write opposite to each name (except those of Irish, Scotch, or Foreigners,) "Y." or "N." for Yes or No, as the case may be.

Whether in Scotland, Ireland, or Foreign Parts—Write in this column, "S." for those who were born in Scotland; "I." for those born in Ireland; and "F." for Foreigners. This latter mark is to be used only for those who are subjects of some Foreign State, and not for British subjects who happen to have been born abroad.

Enter the Totals at the bottom of each page as in the Example, and enter and add up all the Totals in the Summary in the last page. This may be done at home, and must be written with ink.

_____ Enumerator.

I CERTIFY and declare that I have examined the Account of the Population contained in this Schedule, which is signed by the Enumerator, and was delivered to me on the day of 1841, and have satisfied myself that it has been made as accurate as is possible.

_____ Registrar.

I CERTIFY and declare that I have examined the Account of the Population contained in this Schedule, which is signed by the Registrar, and was delivered to me on the day of 1841, and that he has duly performed the duties required of him in regard to the same, and that no inaccuracies have been discovered therein which have not been duly corrected, as far as has been possible.

Witness my hand, this day of 1841.

_____ Superintendent Registrar.

From the subjoined specimens it will be seen that the number of houses inhabited, uninhabited, or building, were ascertained from the actual entry of each house under its proper description in the very place where it stood.

The name, age, sex, and occupation, as given by each individual, were entered in the Enumerator's Schedule, to be returned to us in that form, in order to be afterwards arranged in such classification as might be considered most useful for public information.

In addition to these Enumeration Schedules, we suggested the issuing, under the authority of a subsequent Act of Parliament, Householders' Schedules, in the annexed form,* which were placed in the hands of each householder a few days before that appointed for taking the Census, thus informing him, before the arrival of the enumerator, as to the nature of the particulars required, all of which he was directed to enter at full length beforehand in the same form in which they were to be afterwards transferred by the enumerator to his own Schedule.

The Householders' Schedules contributed in no small degree to the accuracy of the Returns, particularly from large establishments, while they greatly lightened the labours of the Enumerators on the day on which the Census was taken.

It must be evident that the distribution of the whole of Great Britain into minute subdivisions upon the principle above alluded to, viz., that no Enumeration district should comprehend a greater area than could be visited by one person in the course of a day, added very materially to our preparatory labours, as in such arrangements we were obliged to have regard to the variable circumstances of the density of population and the nature of the country to be traversed; we were happy, however, to find that every Enumerator was able to complete his work within the day, without the risk of the errors which might have resulted from a second day's counting.

With regard to the Enumeration of Scotland, the agency through which it was conducted was substantially the same as that of former years. The superintendence of the enumeration of each Parish was generally entrusted to the official schoolmaster, than whom no one could be better qualified for the task. In other respects the same preliminary measures were taken in Scotland as in England, each parish being divided into Enumeration Districts when too extensive or populous for an Enumerator to obtain the requisite information in one day.

The Sheriff Substitute of each County was placed (for the purposes of the Census) in the same relation to the several schoolmasters as the Superintendent-Registrars in England were to the several Registrars. And Mr. Cay, the Convener of Sheriffs in Edinburgh, greatly facilitated the preliminary business of each County, by the assistance he afforded us in making the necessary arrangements.

It will be seen, that in the following Abstract we have retained the fundamental subdivision of Counties into Hundreds throughout the greater part of England, Wapentakes in Yorkshire, and Parts of Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire, and Rapes and Lathes in some of the southern Counties, which had been adopted in 1801-11-21-31.

We have not deemed it necessary to reprint the elaborate account of the origin of these ancient divisions, which has already a place in each of the four Prefaces to the Abstracts of those years. Indeed, had the present been the first occasion of taking a Census of the Population, we might have been disposed to disregard these divisions, and retain only that of Parishes and Counties; as considerable inconvenience often arises from portions of Parishes being situated in two Hundreds; while an alphabetical arrangement of the Parishes of each County would be more accessible for the ordinary purposes of reference.

Considering, however, that to facilitate a comparison between the respective periods it was advisable to prepare the Abstract as nearly as possible in the same form as that adopted on former occasions, and, in the absence of any legislative direction to take a different course, we have continued the subdivision of Counties, first into Hundreds, Wapentakes, &c. and then into Parishes; furnishing, moreover, an alphabetical index of Parishes and Places, by which each may be found under its respective Hundred.

In the present Abstract considerable pains have been taken to distinguish the population of distinct places forming parts of Parishes, such as Townships, Tythings, Hamlets, or Villages, which had not been separately noticed in any former Abstract; and where a return of the population of such places could not be given, their names have been inserted in the Notes at the foot of each page.

The number of Parishes returned in the present Abstract is	11,769
The number of distinct places forming parts of Parishes is .	13,702
Making the number of places separately noticed .	25,471

The number of Places of which the population is distinctly stated is 22,303, being 5601 more than were returned in 1831.

Throughout the Abstract, the Municipal Boroughs and Towns of England and Wales, and the Royal Boroughs of Scotland, are placed in their respective Counties; the particulars of the Parliamentary Boroughs being given in an Appendix.

In the Abstract for Scotland, besides numerous additional Returns of places similar to those above alluded to, the population of the Parishes quoad sacra, has been added. Prior to 1831, with a view to meet the exigencies of the case, Ministers had been appointed to attend to the spiritual condition of the people belonging to certain localities; but no districts had been defined for their labours, nor were they invested with the general privileges of parish ministers; but since that period, by the authority of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, their condition has been closely assimilated to that of parish clergymen, and districts have been assigned to them, which have the character of parishes, quoad sacra.

Although the existence of such Parishes is precarious, it has been deemed proper to give a separate Return for each, without impairing the integrity of the mother parishes out of which they have severally been formed.

The present Volumes contain all the information obtained under the authority of the above-mentioned Acts, except that relating to the occupations of the population of Great Britain, and the Parish Register Returns.

The tables of the Occupations of the people will form a separate publication; as they could not be incorporated with the Enumeration Abstract. They will be published, when completed, together with the Parish Register Abstract; which latter, however, has lost much of its interest, from the greater correctness of the information furnished on the subjects to which it refers, by the Annual Reports and Tables issued by the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

As the information contained in this Abstract differs in some respects from that printed on former occasions, a few general remarks are added in explanation of the results furnished under each column.

AREA.

The Area as assigned to the several Parishes in England in the Abstract of 1831 has been adopted in the present Abstract. Attempts have been made without success to obtain authentic information whereby the apparent inaccuracies which exist in this computation of the Area might have been remedied; but nothing short of an actual survey would be calculated to give a more accurate result than has been here obtained by the labours of the late Mr. Rickman.

HOUSES.

It will be found that the number of inhabited houses has increased in a greater ratio than the population, both in England and Wales, a circumstance which would appear to show an increase of comfort, and of those habits of separate and independent residence which are so characteristic of our countrymen. In England and Wales the proportion per cent. of inhabited houses to population, in 1831, was 17·85, or 2,481,544 houses to a population of 13,897,187, or, in other words, 5·6 persons to each house; in 1841, the proportion of houses to every 100 of the population was 18·50, or only 5·4 persons to every house. Such is the result for England and Wales, showing that while the number of inhabited houses has increased at the rate of 18·6 per cent. in the last ten years, the increase of population has been 14·5 per cent. in the period ending 1841, although it was 16 per cent. in the period ending 1831. Two short tables* are here subjoined, one showing the results of a similar comparison for some of the municipal towns and districts of Great Britain; the other the number of persons to inhabited houses in England and Wales at each decennial period since 1801.

NOTE.—The two first periods exclude, while the three last include the Returns for the Islands in the British Seas.

It will be seen that in the Metropolis the proportion of houses to inhabitants is slightly diminished, while in Middlesex it has remained stationary.

In Lancashire the average number to each house is very little above, and in Yorkshire it is slightly below that of all England, and in both counties house accommodation has increased in a greater proportion than the population.

With respect to the Return of Houses for Scotland, a comparison with the Return of 1831 has been rendered impracticable, owing to a misconstruction of directions on the part of many of the enumerators, and the peculiar difficulty attending the proper discrimination of houses from tenements.

By diligent investigation, and by collating the present Returns with those of 1831, we have been enabled to arrive at the conclusion, that the proportion which the population of Scotland now bears to the inhabited houses is rather above that exhibited in the Abstracts of 1831.

The total number of FAMILIES in Scotland, as returned in the Schedules, amounted to 550,428, or in the proportion of 1 to 4·76 of the population. The number of families in 1831 was 502,301, or in the proportion of 4·71 to the population. The total number now given in the Abstract as of Inhabited Houses is augmented by (in numerous cases) the return of families instead of houses.

By comparing this total of families with the number of houses as given in the Abstract (502,852), it will be seen that in most cases throughout Scotland flats, apartments, and families have been reckoned and returned as distinct houses.

* The Population, as given for Edinburgh City and Suburbs, includes (for sake of comparison with the Returns of 1831) the Parishes of North and South Leith; but they are no longer considered as Suburbs of Edinburgh.

† The Population as given for Aberdeen City, includes (for sake of comparison with 1831) the whole of Old Machar Parish.

PERSONS.

The following Table will show the Number of Persons enumerated in each County of England, Wales, and Scotland, with the progressive increase of Population at each decennial period since 1801; also the Number of Parishes and Places of which the population is distinctly stated in the Enumeration Abstract, together with the Area of each County in English statute acres.

To this Table is added another showing a similar comparison of the Population of several principal towns, wherein it has been necessary to give two columns of population for the year 1841, the one exhibiting each place according to its limits as they existed at former periods, the other according to its present boundaries, whether extended or otherwise.

PREFACE.

It will be perceived that, according to the Returns of the total population of England and Wales, there appears to be a diminution in the rate of increase on the last ten years, as compared with the preceding decennial period, of 1½ per cent., or the difference between 16 per cent. and 14·5. We have thought it our duty to inquire whether this arises from a difference between the excess of births over deaths in the latter of these two periods, or from some cause quite unconnected with the statistics of vitality. As one very obvious cause for an increased or diminished rate of increase of the population would be found in the greater or less extension of emigration, we directed our inquiry to the Returns on this subject. The additional population which would be required, in order to make the ratio of increase on the present occasion equal to that of the former decennial period, would be 208,998, being 1½ per cent. on the total population of 1831; and from Returns which have been furnished from the Emigration Board, it appears that the total excess of emigration in the ten years ending 1841, compared with the ten years ending 1831, may be estimated at 282,322.* Of this number a large proportion were natives of Ireland, who sailed from the Ports of England, particularly from Liverpool; but allowing a reasonable deduction for such persons, it may still be assumed that the apparent falling off in the rate of increase of population in England in the ten years ending 1841, as compared with that observable in the previous ten years, has been influenced more by the progress of emigration, than by any causes affecting the natural increase by the excess of births over deaths. When it is considered, that though the ages of parties emigrating are not returned, it is notorious that the greater part consist of persons in the prime of life, a class from which there would probably be a great excess of births over deaths, there can remain no doubt that the multiplication of numbers in England, by the excess of births over deaths, has continued at an undiminished, if not an increased rate, in the last ten years.

It should be here noticed that an excess of births over deaths may be maintained in different periods at exactly the same rate by two entirely different conditions, inasmuch as greater fecundity in a population may be, and in fact is, counteracted by increased mortality, the previous rate of increase being thus barely maintained; while, on the other hand, a diminution in the number of births to any given number of the population may be made up by a diminished rate of mortality. In either of these cases, the result, on striking a balance between the births and deaths, would be the same, and would afford the same natural rate of increase for the two periods compared; while the condition of the people, which is the subject of inquiry, would be very dissimilar. When we come to the detailed Abstract of Ages, it may appear as if the latter of these two causes had been principally operating in the course of the last ten years.

Whether the total increase of population represented by the Returns of this or any former period can be wholly ascribed to the mere excess of births over deaths, depends upon the satisfactory solution of either of two intricate propositions, applicable to any given period:—1st. Whether the exact proportion of births to deaths can be ascertained; and 2nd. Whether the counterbalancing effects of immigration and emigration have been in equal operation. With respect to the former proposition, the result obtained through the General Registry Act† cannot, at present, be deemed wholly conclusive; and with respect to the latter proposition, the means of secure calculation are destroyed

* It appears that in the records of the Emigration Board there are no means of distinguishing males from females, or adults from children, nor of giving the Returns of emigrants for an earlier period than 1825. The Return furnished to us was therefore in the following form:—

"The number of Emigrants from the ports of England and Wales were—"

In the	7 years	from 1825 to 1831	103,218
„	10 „	1832 to 1841	429,775."

We have assumed, with respect to the first three years of the first decennial period, that the number of emigrants was as great in each year as in each of the seven following years for which we have Returns. As the numbers appear to have progressively increased, we shall, by such a mode of calculation, not have underrated the total number of emigrants in the first decennial period.

† By the Reports of the Registrar-General it appears that the excess of births over deaths in the year ending at the time the Census was taken

In 1841, was	148,921
In the similar period ending 1840,	151,488
„ „	1839, 149,533;

by the impossibility of ascertaining the exact numbers of immigrants. It might not be unreasonable to assume that the amount of emigration, although very extensive, does not differ widely from the amount of immigration, which will always result from the temptations held out by capital and enterprise to the productive classes of every kind. In confirmation of this it will be seen, that (although there is no reason to suppose that the fecundity of the population is there less than in England) the population of Ireland has only increased, according to the Returns presented by the Irish Commissioners, at the rate of 5½ per cent. It cannot be doubted that a large proportion of the increase that would there arise from the mere excess of births over deaths, has gone to swell the Returns of the existing population of England and Scotland. Here, again, it should be borne in mind, that the immigrants will be generally just of the age most likely still further to increase the population, their children born in the last ten years serving to swell the number of those "born in the county" in which they were enumerated. When we come to examine the column (included in these Returns) which contains the birth-place of those living in each place, it will be generally found that every remarkable increase in the population is attended by a proportionate increase in the number of persons not natives of the place which is the subject of inquiry.

AGES (above and under 20).

The next columns give the numbers of each sex above and under 20 years of age, for the sake of comparison with a Return of the number of males of 20 and upwards, which appeared in the Abstract for 1831. As the Returns of ages are given for all the Hundreds, for the principal towns, for England, Wales, and Scotland, separately, and for Great Britain generally, in greater detail in the Age Abstract, it will be unnecessary to make more than one remark upon these columns. They do not entirely agree with the results of the inquiry made in 1831, which show that the division of the male population into two equal parts occurred then at 20 years of age; a fact, however, which may have resulted from the positive way in which this proposition was presented to the overseers in 1831, viz.,—That "If the number of males "upwards of 20 years old should differ materially from one-half of the total "number of males, some error has probably been committed, and the answer "to this question should be examined, and corrected, if necessary." We subjoin a statement as to the actual results of the inquiries made in the several periods of 1821, 1831, and 1841: it will be seen that in 1821 the number of males under 20 years of age rather exceeded the number of those above 20. In 1831 the difference was to a small extent in favour of those above 20, while within the last 10 years a considerable advance has been made in the amount by which those above exceed those under 20 years.

In 1821, the number enumerated was,—

Males—Above 20	2,563,926*
Under 20	2,598,636
Showing a difference of	34,710,	or 1·3 per cent.—excess of males under, over those above, 20, or 1013 to 1000.
Females—Above 20	2,817,538
Under 20.	2,562,081
Showing a difference of	255,457,	or nearly 10 per cent.—excess of females above, over those under, 20, or 1100 to 1000.

In 1831 (at which period the inquiry was confined to the mere number of males upwards of 20 years of age), the number enumerated was,— whereas the actual increase from that cause, taken merely at 1 per cent. on the total population, at each of those periods, should have been—

In 1841	156,978
1840	154,864
1839	152,786

If the account had been added of the year before, it would have fallen still more short of an increase of 1 per cent., but in that, the first year of the operation of the General Registry Act, it is notorious that the registry of births was much less complete than the registry of deaths, which may now be considered perfect. In the three latter years, however, the proportion of registered births to deaths, although it probably approximates to the truth, cannot be taken as a safe basis of calculation.

* This number includes 11,510 militia.

Males—Above 20	3,394,690
Under 20	3,376,500
Showing a difference of	18,190,	or 0·5 per cent.—excess of males above, over those under, 20, or 1005 to 1000.

In 1841, the number enumerated was,—

Males—Above 20	4,071,876*
Under 20	3,638,610
Showing a difference of	433,266,	or 11·9 per cent.—excess of males above, over those under, 20, or 1119 to 1000.
Females—Above 20	4,463,759*
Under 20	3,661,302
Showing a difference of	802,457,	or 21·9 per cent.—excess of females above, over those under, 20, or 1219 to 1000.

But it must here be stated, that while the Returns of 1821 and 1831 exclude registered seamen on shore, the Return of 1841 includes them; these amount to a considerable number, of whom by far the greatest part may be assumed to be above 20 years of age, which will considerably reduce the above difference.

Supposing the Returns to have been correct in 1831 and in 1821, it is a question for consideration to what is to be ascribed the much greater proportion at present existing above 20, than on either of the former occasions. But these results favour the opinion that the value of life of the adult population has increased; though it is also known that the tendency amongst the poorer population to contract early marriages has greatly diminished; a fact which, with other causes, would tend to prove that the increased value of life was not so great as the figures would apparently indicate.

BIRTH-PLACE.

In confirmation of what has already been advanced, viz., that any rapid increase of the population in any particular place is caused by immigration principally, and not by any great disproportion in the number of the births to the deaths, it will be found that in almost every county or place in which the per centage of increase is much above the average, the per centage of those born in the county will be found to be below the average. The average for all England of those born in the county in which they are enumerated is 80·7 per cent.; the average increase of population, as has been already mentioned, is 14·5 per cent. By reference to the subjoined Abstract which we have caused to be prepared, it will be seen that in Durham, Lancashire, Monmouth, Chester, Middlesex, Surrey, Warwick, Stafford, York (West Riding); that is to say, in all the counties which much exceed the average increase of population for England (with the exception of the two last), the number of those born within the county is below the average of England. Of the West Riding of Yorkshire, indeed, it may be remarked, that while the great increase in the population applies only to that Riding, the answers as to the birth-place would include as born within the county those born in the other Ridings from which the immigration would be most likely to take place, so that this can hardly be said to form an exception to the rule laid down. Of the 15 counties that are most below the average rate of increase in population—namely, less than 10 per cent.—there is only one that is not also much above the average in the number born within the county.

It will be seen, that of natives of Ireland there are nearly 300,000 in England and Wales alone, or a proportion of nearly 2 per cent. of the whole population; while, in Scotland, they amount to 126,000, and are in a proportion of nearly 5 per cent. of the population: in the latter country they rise in four counties to upwards of a tenth of the whole number enumerated. In no counties of England, except the border counties of Northumberland and Cumberland, do the Scotch appear, from these Returns, to form a large proportion of the population, and even in these two counties they do not rise above 4 per cent. on the total numbers enumerated, while of the whole English population they barely form a thousandth part.

* These numbers exclude 35,408 males and 11,472 females, whose ages were not specified.

Age Abstract.

As a mere return of the numbers living in each county at the respective ages can convey but little information without reference to the total population within the county, involving at the same time a tedious calculation, while a comparison between two or more counties would require to be repeated, we have had the subjoined tables prepared; one of which exhibits the proportions at each age to 10,000 for every county in Great Britain; and as a similar calculation was made by Mr. Rickman, in 1821 (the last occasion on which a detailed account of ages was attempted), we have shown the results obtained at each period in juxta-position, adding a second table for several principal towns, as in them the influence of particular employments in affecting the numbers at particular ages is more evidently traced. A third table is given, showing the proportion per cent. which the females bear to the males at each quinquennial period of life in the several counties of Great Britain.

It will be seen that, in Lancashire, where the large manufactories are supposed to include so large a juvenile population, the numbers between 15 and 20 are little above the average of England, and as nearly as possible the same as in Huntingdon; whereas in Manchester the proportion of the numbers between those ages nearly coincides with the average of all England. It will be remarked that the numbers below ten (or, in other words, those who have been born since the last Census) do not bear so large a proportion to the total population as was found to be the case in 1821, a result which may be ascribed by some to a diminished proportion of births to the total population, by others to an increased duration of life. Indeed, as a general result, the adult population (that is, the available strength of the country) is increased since 1821 in a greater proportion than that exhibited by the total population.

We have confined ourselves to thus shortly explaining the machinery by which these Returns have been produced, and calling attention to the principal facts and general results of the information furnished in each column. We have studiously avoided entering upon any speculative discussion as to the causes or consequences, deeming it better to rest contented with laying a foundation of facts, leaving it to others to build theories thereon.

TABLE I.—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT of the AGES of PERSONS in the several COUNTIES of GREAT BRITAIN on the 28th day of May, 1821, and on the 7th day of June, 1841, as deduced from the Returns made under the respective Population Acts; showing what would be the Number of Persons of the several specified Ages, supposing (for the sake of comparison) the Number of MALES whose Ages were returned from each County to have been TEN THOUSAND, and the Number of FEMALES to have been TEN THOUSAND respectively.

Estimated Population of England and Wales, 1570—1750.

As an appendage to the Table (page 8) showing the progressive increase of population in England and Wales, as ascertained from the result of actual enumeration commenced in the year 1801, and repeated at decennial periods down to the year 1841, we have to subjoin a calculation of the probable population of England and Wales at six irregular periods anterior to the first enumeration in 1801, and commencing with the year 1570. This Table was compiled by the late Mr. Rickman, with a view to its forming part of the Preface to the Abstract of the Population for 1841, had that work been intrusted to his charge by the Government, as it had been in the years 1801, 1811, 1821, and 1831. His lamented death, in 1840, prevented his taking any further part in forwarding the present Census; and these calculations having been delivered by his executors to the Home Office, were transmitted to us with other documents relating to the business of the Census. The calculation of the population at the various periods was deduced from Returns of baptisms, burials, and marriages obtained by extracts from the registers of such parishes as possessed documents of an early date—a fact which had been ascertained with a view to the present results, by an inquiry in 1831 into the conditions and earliest date of the registers of every parish. The subjoined letter will best explain the nature of the inquiry.*

* Reverend Sir, London, October, 1836.

Probably it has not escaped your recollection, if you had charge of a parish in the year 1831, that in issuing the Population Schedules of Inquiry as to the number of baptisms, burials, and marriages, I took occasion also to request a statement of the extent and condition of the parish register books in each parish; and I afterwards concentrated the information so obtained in such manner that no essential part of it is omitted in the printed volume which comprises the Parish Register Abstract required by the Population Act of that year.

I confess I was not without expectation by that inquiry to bring to light the unequalled extent of the series of Parish Registers preserved in England, by showing the large proportion of these parochial records which, under the custody of the clergy of the Church of England, has escaped the many casualties which do not fail to occur in every place in the course of 250 years. You will perceive by this limitation of time that herein I do not recur to the original institution of Parish Registers (now three centuries ago), there being no chance of general regularity during the religious convulsions which terminated in the complete settlement of the Reformation in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Advantage was taken of this in the beginning of the reign of her successor, James I., who promulgated the Canons which are still in force, one of them containing regulations for the improvement and preservation of Parish Registers; and herein the clergyman of each parish was instructed to make a copy on parchment of all extant Register Books, especially as far back as the commencement of the reign of Queen Elizabeth; and to this wholesome regulation we owe most of our ancient Parish Registers, the usual commencement of which is in the year 1558; and the habit of attention to Parish Register Entry in future naturally followed in continuation of these copied registers.

The result is (as ascertained by the inquiry of 1831), that not much less than half the parishes in England possess registers as far back as the year 1600; and of these three-fourths commence as early as the year 1570, to which date, for reasons now to be given, I think any general inquiry ought to be limited.

Such inquiry, with a view of showing the population at certain assigned periods, without imposing an unreasonable burden on the clergy, will be effectual by obtaining the number of baptisms, burials, and marriages at intervals of thirty or forty years, as indeed is rendered almost unavoidable by the political events of the seventeenth century. For the Civil Wars and subsequent confusion of public affairs from 1640 to 1660 caused a general defect in parish registers by the temporary expulsion of most of the clergy from their benefices, so that the years 1630 and 1670 become the most unexceptionable in that century; and the year 1570, checked by the rude enumeration of fighting men at the time of the Spanish Armada in 1588, and compared with the parish registers of the year 1600, will sufficiently indicate the increasing or decreasing state of the population in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

I do not presume to specify all the purposes for which knowledge of this kind is useful, much less to foresee the various combinations of science to which it may be auxiliary in the progress of intellectual improvement; I rather confine myself to the immediate object of this inquiry, which seeks to ascertain the rate of mortality among the laborious classes of society. With regard to selected lives (by which are meant the lives of those who have been able to purchase Government Annuities of various kinds), the rate of mortality is well known, even the comparative mortality of the two sexes, and the degree in which the duration of such lives has increased in the course of the last and present century; and it has been found by extensive investigation during the last ten or twelve years that the degree or annual average amount of disease may be inferred from the rate of mortality.

The results are arrived at by assuming, in the years 1570, 1600, 1630, 1670, 1700, and 1750, the same proportion of baptisms, burials, and marriages to the existing population as in the years 1800 and 1801; in the last of which years the population was first actually enumerated. The average number of entries in three years (1569, 1570, 1571) forming the basis of calculation for the year 1570, and a similar average for the years 1600, 1630, 1670, 1700, and 1750.

Thus, in the county of Bedford there are extant 394 baptismal entries of the year 1570; and the parishes to which these baptisms belong are found to have 772 baptismal entries in the year 1800.

Or, if 772 baptisms in the year 1800 coincided with a population of 63,393 in 1801, what population is indicated by 394 baptisms in the same parishes in the year 1570?

Baptisms, 1800.		Pop., 1801.		Baptisms, 1570.		Pop., 1570.
If 772	:	63,393	: :	394	=	32,353.
Burials, 1800.		Pop., 1801.		Burials, 1570.		Pop., 1570.
If 468	:	63,393	: :	224	=	30,342.
Marriages, 1800.		Pop., 1801.		Marriages, 1570.		Pop., 1570.
If 123	:	63,393	: :	74	=	38,139.

It will be seen that the materials which form the basis of this calculation have more connexion with the subject of the Parish Register Abstract than with the present volumes. We may, at a future period, enter into the consideration of the merits of the calculation, deeming it sufficient for the present to state that there is reason for supposing the estimate hereby arrived at to be an approximation to the truth.

From these premises it follows, that the rate of stated payments to Friendly Societies for ensuring stated benefits will become fixed on solid grounds, and may be published by authority; and the discouragement which has resulted from the too frequent insolvency of such societies will thus be made to disappear by the application of science to well ascertained facts. In urging the importance of institutions whereby the industrious classes may provide for themselves in the day of sickness, I shall not insist on the effect of the recent alteration of the Poor Relief Laws, whereby the encouragement of Friendly Societies has become an incumbent duty, on public grounds as well as in furtherance of individual benevolence; this indeed is so obvious that I shall not presume to dilate further on the subject.

I have now explained my motives for undertaking the voluntary labour of collecting and hereafter arranging such of the Returns solicited by this circular letter as the clergy may be so good as to afford on this occasion. My experience of their willingness to give assistance in a useful inquiry teaches me to expect 4000 Returns of the year 1600, and not less than 3000 Returns of the year 1570.

I do not ask for distinction of the sexes of those baptized or buried, that not being essential to the purpose of the inquiry, and because the difficulty of reading Christian names in any old manuscript is usually such that a clergyman could not in that case use the aid of his family, or any other voluntary assistance, in answering the questions propounded in the enclosed sheet, at the back of which is a printed address, which will not fail to convey it by the post to me in London.

I shall only add, that as a Circular Letter does not always reach its destination, I shall not conclude that the defect of answer or notice in the course of the next month or six weeks arises from an unwillingness to comply with my request, and in that case shall then transmit a duplicate to every clergyman of a parish possessing an ancient register, lest I should fail in conveying to him my request that he will co-operate with me in obtaining a result which cannot but furnish decisive evidence to all Europe of the steady respectability of the clergy of the Church of England ever since its first establishment, and the readiness of the existing clergy to afford their personal attention in aid of any useful investigation.

I have the honour to be,
Reverend Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
JOHN RICKMAN.

To
The Reverend
The Officiating Minister of the Parish of

P.S.—I had not intended to ask for a return of three consecutive years at the dates of A.D. 1570, 1600, 1630, and 1670; but on communicating my scheme to Mr. Finlaison, Actuary of the National Life Annuity Office, he urged the superior value of an average of three years so forcibly that I consented for this purpose to risk the defect of a few returns from clergymen who may be discouraged or displeased at this addition to the labour requested of them: in fact the annual fluctuation of the price of corn (that is, of subsistence) affects the number of births, deaths, and marriages so perceptibly that the comparative numbers in any single year would form but an insecure basis of calculation.

No Parish Register of the years 1569, 1570, and 1571 being extant in the Counties of Monmouth and Northumberland, the calculated Population of England at that period must be deficient, and the small proportion extant in some other Counties (to wit, in Cumberland, 15 per cent.; in Lancaster, 14 per cent.; in Westmorland, 8 per cent.; in North York, 13 per cent.; and in Wales, 2 per cent.); affords no satisfactory evidence of their Population, so that the above Totals of England and Wales ascribed to the year 1570 require considerate Revision.

The defect of Parish Registers in Monmouthshire and Northumberland, and the deficiency of Parish Registers in Wales is here submitted to correction in the next page.

No Parish Registers whatever of the year 1570 being extant in Monmouthshire or Northumberland, these Counties afford no entry in the column of Population in the year 1570; which defects therefore must be supplied by the Rule of Proportion applied to all the other English Counties, thus:—

ENGLAND AND WALES, 1570—1750.

Estimated Population of England in 1600, as above . 4,460,454
From which deduct the population of the two counties (Monmouthshire and Northumberland) defective in 1570 98,982
Population of England minus the two counties . . . 4,361,472

1600.	Population 1600 of the two Counties.	1570.	Population 1570 of the two Counties.
Therefore if 4,361,472	: 98,982	:: 3,737,841	= 84,829

Thus 3,737,841 + 84,829 = 3,822,670, the corrected estimate of the population of England in the Year 1570.

Further; The proportion of Parish Registers in Wales extant in 1570 being no more than ·62, or $\frac{1}{30}$, is not to be relied on, and must be altered according to the English Counties; thus,—

Population 1600:	Population 1570.	Wales 1600.	Wales 1570:
If 4,460,454	: 3,822,670	:: 351,264	: 301,038

or 121,441 less in number than the Population resulting from the few Registers actually extant in Wales, giving 4,123,708 for the actual population of England and Wales in 1570.

CONCLUSION.

By the 8th clause of 3 and 4 Vic., c. 99, it was enacted "That the Commissioners shall cause Abstracts to be made of the said Returns in such form and manner as shall be decided upon by the said Commissioners, with the approval of one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State; and such Abstracts shall be printed and laid before both Houses of Parliament within twelve calendar months next after the first day of September, in the year 1841; or if Parliament be not then sitting, within the first fourteen days of the Session then next ensuing."

On the 11th December, 1840, the Commission was appointed, leaving one year and eight months for completing the work. It was foreseen that this clause of the Act could not be complied with, the information required being unprecedented, and none of the persons enjoined by law to give their assistance having ever been engaged in a similar operation.

The country was to be divided into minute districts, and thirty-five thousand persons engaged to enumerate the people on a stated day.

On the arrival of the enumerators' schedules in London, each individual, of whichever sex, was presented to us with five distinct propositions attached to each name, making upwards of one hundred millions of separate facts to be reduced into tabular statements by copying, and the results to be formed into geographical districts by means of more than three hundred and thirty thousand separate calculations, all of which were to be tested by a system of checks, in order to prevent error. This work was to be accomplished by the aid of an establishment which was to be collected together for the express purpose, remunerated with the lowest salaries, and without prospect of employment from Government beyond the continuance of the office.

For many months the clerks worked twelve hours a-day; and, but for the ready willingness displayed by them on all occasions to devote their time to our necessities, a much longer period must have elapsed before the work could have been printed.

Under these circumstances no apology is considered necessary; but it is right to explain that the Act of Parliament contemplated a result which could not be effected with the means placed at our command, and that great efforts have been made to present the work previous to the close of the present Session of Parliament.

EDMUND PHIPPS.

[f] The Return for the Parish of Rackenford states that there is a temporary increase of 59 persons, in consequence of the annual village feast.

[g] Hightleigh, or Highley St. Mary, is adjacent to Oakford (Devon) and Brushford (Somerset); the land and assessed taxes are collected by the parish officers of Stoodleigh.

[h] Six persons have emigrated from Witheridge; 4 from Alphington; and 4 from Cheriton-Bishop, since 31st December 1840.

[i] There are two Parishes in this County called Woolfardisworthy, one is in Hartland Hundred, situated near Hartland, and the other is between Southmolton and Crediton.

[k] The Town of Chagford contains 1,043 Inhabitants.

[l] The entire Parish of Drewsteignton contains 1,315 Inhabitants.

[m] Heavitree is a suburb of the City of Exeter, hence the great increase of buildings and population; the Return includes the Hamlets of Whipton, East Wonford, and South Wonford; also 234 soldiers in the Artillery Barracks.

[n] The great increase of population in the Parish of St. Leonard since 1831 is ascribed to the numerous buildings at Mount Radford, near the City of Exeter, which are inhabited chiefly by naval and military men; and the excess of females is attributed to the absence of males on service. The situation is salubrious, and the town is rapidly increasing.

[o] The Parish of St. Nicholas includes the Hamlet of Shaldon, containing 538 Inhabitants.

[p] East Ogwell and West Ogwell form a portion of Wonford Hundred, near Newton-Bushell.

[q] The Parish of Poltimore includes the Hamlet of Ratstoe.

[r] The Parish of Rewe is partly in Hayridge Hundred; the entire Parish contains 301 Inhabitants, and 1,360 Acres.

[s] The entire Parish of Sowton contains 382 Inhabitants, [t] The entire Tything of Clist-Satchfield, which extends into Farringdon Parish (Budleigh, East, Hundred), contains 286 Inhabitants.

[u] The decrease of population in the Parish of Stokeinteignhead is ascribed to several old houses having been taken down and others being uninhabited. This Parish, with Combeinteignhead and Haccombe, form a distinct portion of Wonford Hundred, near Newton-Bushell.

[x] The Return for the Parish of South Tawton includes the Hamlets of Itton, Taw Green, Widden Down, Gooseford Week, or Wick, Ash, Fulford, Ramsley, Dishcomb and South Zeal.

[y] The Return for the Parish of St. Thomas includes the Chapelry of Oldridge, containing 65 Inhabitants; also 225 persons in the Union Workhouse; 59 in the Lunatic Asylum; 47 in the Sheriff's Ward, or Debtors' Prison for the County; and 28 on board vessels. This Parish is partly within the Parliamentary Boundary of the Borough of Exeter.

[z] The Return for the Parish of Whitstone includes an estate called Sherewood, deemed extra-parochial, (containing 1 house and 5 persons,) which is chiefly surrounded by Whitstone; rates have, however, been claimed by Newton St. Cyres, to which it is also adjacent.

[d] The Parish of St. Andrew Auckland is partly in the South-East Division of Darlington Ward; the entire Parish (including 31 persons in the Lunatic Asylum in the Township of West Auckland, and 32 persons in the Workhouse in the Township of Bishop Auckland) contains 19,100 Inhabitants, and 45,420 Acres. The great increase of population (7,963) is ascribed to the opening of new collieries and to the formation of a railroad. The population of the Township of Evenwood is included in the Return for the Township of Barony. The area of the Township of Pollards-Lands is included in some of the other Townships, and is so much intermixed with them as to be inseparable.

[e] The decrease in the population of the Township of Hamsterley (13 persons) is ascribed to the stoppage of a cotton-mill.

[f] The great increase of population in the Township of Newfield arises from the working of new coal-pits.

[g] The increase of population (270 persons) in the Township of Shildon is attributed to the temporary employment of labourers on the railroad.

[h] The entire Parish of Brancepeth contains 2,151 Inhabitants, and 21,850 Acres, exclusive of the area in the Chapelry of Whitworth, South-East Division of the Ward. The Township of Hedley Hope is stated to form part of Satley Chapelry in Lanchester Parish (Chester Ward, West Division.)

[i] The increase of population in Crook and Billy-Row and Hemlington-Row Townships arises from the opening and working of new coal-mines. The Return includes 70 labourers employed on a railroad.

[k] A temporary increase in the population of Escomb is attributed to the employment of labourers on the railroad.

[l] The Parish of Lanchester is mostly in Chester Ward (West Division), the entire Parish contains 7,783 Inhabitants, and 41,890 Acres.

[m] The entire Parish of Stanhope (including 46 persons in the Union Workhouse situate in the Township of Stanhope-Quarter) contains 7,063 Inhabitants, and 55,030 Acres. The decrease of population (1,210) in the Township of Forest-Quarter, 1,022 in the Township of Park-Quarter, and 253 in the Township of Stanhope-Quarter, is attributed to a part of the mining population having removed to the eastern part of the county since 1831. The Township of Bishopley contains 121 Inhabitants. Sixteen persons have emigrated from the Township of Forest-Quarter since 31st December 1840. Weardale Chapelry is situated in the Township of Forest-Quarter.

[mm] The Return for Witton-le-Wear Parochial Chapelry states, that there is a temporary increase of 55 persons (labourers and their families), employed on the Bishop Auckland and Weardale Railway.

[n] St. Mary-le-Bow, and St. Mary-the-Less Parishes, are entered with the City of Durham at the end of the County.

[o] The entire Parish of Bishop-Wearmouth (including 234 persons in the Sunderland Union Workhouse, and 13 persons in the Infirmary, both in the Township of Bishop-Wearmouth), contains 27,092 Inhabitants, and 8,880 Acres. The great increase of population (9,744) in the Township of Bishop-Wearmouth is attributed to the flourishing state of the coal trade.

[p] Seventeen persons are stated to have emigrated from the Township of Ford since 31st December 1840.

[q] Most part of the Parish of Chester-le-Street is in the Middle Division of Chester Ward; the entire Parish contains 16,359 Inhabitants, and 31,260 Acres. The decrease of population (505) in the Township of Great Lumley is attributed to the stoppage of the coal mines in that district.

[r] The entire Parish of Dalton-le-Dale contains 2,709 Inhabitants, and 3,940 Acres. The great increase of population (995) in the Township of Dawdon is attributed to the formation of a harbour. The Return includes 183 seamen in vessels, who are deducted from the General Return of Registered Seamen.

[s] The entire Parish of Houghton-le-Spring (including 31 persons in the Union Workhouse in the Township of Houghton-le-Spring), contains 16,833 Inhabitants and 14,560 Acres. The great number of uninhabited houses, and decrease of population, particularly in Hetton-le-Hole, and Houghton-le-Spring, arises from several new collieries having been opened in the surrounding Townships, which has caused a large portion of the mining population to remove thither.

[t] The entire Parish of Seaham contains 328 Inhabitants, and 2,880 Acres. A railroad, passing through the Townships, has tended to increase the population.

[u] The Town of Sunderland is entered at the end of the County.

[x] The increase of 298 in the population of Castle-Eden is attributed partly to an additional number of labourers being employed in collieries and railroads.

[y] The entire Parish of Easington contains 5,573 Inhabitants, and 12,400 Acres. The coal-mines, newly opened in the Townships of Easington, Haswell, and Shotton, have increased the population in those Townships respectively 119, 3,718, and 331.

[z] Most part of the Parish of Hart is in the North-east Division of Stockton Ward; the entire Parish contains 728 Inhabitants and 8,280 Acres. The Townships of Nesbitt and Thorp-Bulmer were heretofore returned with the Parish of Monk-Hesleton.

[a] The entire Parish of Kelloe contains 11,223 Inhabitants, and 10,970 Acres.

[b] The great increase of population in the Townships of Coxhoe, Thornley, and Wingate, since 1831 arises from the working of new mines.

[c] The entire Parish of Monk Hesleton contains 935 Inhabitants, and 6,060 Acres. The Return for Monk Hesleton Township states, that an increase of 314 persons arises from a railway passing through the Township, and the opening of a new colliery.

[d] Most part of the Parish of St. Oswald is in the City of Durham, entered at the end of the County; part of it is also in the Middle Division of Chester Ward, and part in the South-East Division of Darlington Ward. The entire Parish contains 8,886 Inhabitants, and 3,760 Acres, exclusive of the area assigned to the City of Durham.

[e] The entire Parish of Pittington (including Hall-Garth), contains 4,577 Inhabitants, and 6,330 Acres.

[f] The entire Parish of Billingham contains 1,653 Inhabitants, and 8,970 Acres.

[g] The Return for Newton-Bewley includes 7 persons in tents.

* The Area of the County of Durham is 1,097 square statute Miles, and consequently 702,080 Acres; while the Area assigned to the several Parishes amounts to no more than 679,530 Acres; but no attempt to reconcile this apparent discrepancy has been deemed allowable.

Note.—Chester, Darlington, and Easington Wards have respectively increased in population 21,300, 26,615, and 8,654; which is attributed to the opening of new collieries, and to the formation of several railroads.

[c] The Returns for the Parishes of Saul and Standish include respectively 17 and 5 persons in barges. Part of the Parish of Standish is detached, and joins the Parish of Pitchcombe; another part, called Coldthorp, is bounded by Upper and Middle Haresfield.

[f] The City of Bristol extends into the County of Somerset, but is wholly returned in the County of Gloucester, as in 1831. The Parishes of St. James, St. Paul, and St. Philip and St. Jacob, are mostly in Barton Regis Hundred, which is subjoined to the Returns for the County of the City of Bristol, in order to afford a correct view of the population of that City, and a comparison with the Returns of 1831. The Parishes here entered as in the suburbs of Bristol contain 58,030 Inhabitants. The Parish of Bedminster (Somersetshire), on the south side of the River Avon, containing 17,862 Inhabitants, is also a suburb of Bristol; with these additions, the population of the City of Bristol amounts to 140,158 Inhabitants. The Parishes of St James and St. Paul, including part of both in the suburbs as well as in the City of Bristol, contain 27,456 Inhabitants; and the Parish of St. Philip and St. Jacob (a portion of which has been formed into a District Parish called Holy Trinity), in like manner, contains 25,700 Inhabitants, but these cannot be distinctly ascribed, the Return of the Out part of the Parishes (so called) not being distinguished. The Out Parishes of St. James and St. Paul have been united for municipal purposes, to form one District Ward of the Borough of Bristol, which prevents the entire population of each Parish from being distinguished.

[g] The Parliamentary Borough of Bristol comprises the City of Bristol, the Out Parish of St. Philip and St. Jacob, the Out Parishes of St. James and St. Paul, the Parish of Clifton, part of Bedminster, and part of the Tything of Stoke Bishop, in the Parish of Westbury-on-Trym.—See Appendix.

[h] The Return for the Parish of St. Augustine includes 88 persons in Colston's Hospital.

[hh] The Return for the Parish of Christchurch includes 15 persons in the Police Station.

[i] The Return for the Parish of St. James includes 27 persons in the Bristol Penitentiary, 6 in the Eye Infirmary, and 256 in the Bristol Infirmary.

[k] The Return for the Parish of St. Mary's Redcliff includes 6 persons in barges.

[l] The Return for the Parish of St. Michael includes 60 persons in the Blind Asylum.

[m] The Return for the Parish of St. Nicholas includes 163 persons in barges.

[n] The Return for the Parish of St. Paul includes 62 persons in the Orphan Houses, and 15 in the Baptist College.

[q] The Return for Temple, or Holy Cross Parish, includes 40 persons in White's Hospital, 5 in barges, and 5 in tents.

[r] The Return for the Parish of Clifton includes 140 persons in the Union Workhouse and 111 in barges, &c. Eight persons have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[s] The Return for the Parish of St. George includes 18 persons in the Female Lunatic Asylum, 215 in the Clifton Union Workhouse for children, and 13 in the Military Hospital.

[t] The Return for the Parish of St. James and St. Paul includes 54 persons in the Girls' Orphan Asylum.

[u] The Return for the Parish of St. Philip and St. Jacob includes 9 persons in the Friends' Asylum, 29 in the House of Correction, and 116 in the Union Workhouse. Five persons have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[x] The Return for Stapleton Parish includes 106 persons in Fishpond's Licensed Madhouse, 33 in Ridgway's Licensed Madhouse, and 616 in the Asylum for the Poor of St. Peter's Hospital.

[y] For the population of the Parliamentary Borough of Gloucester see Appendix.

[z] The entire Parish of St. Catherine, which is partly in Dudstone and Kings Barton Hundred (Middle and Upper Divisions), contains 1,615 Inhabitants, and 200 Acres, exclusive of that portion of the area in the City of Gloucester. The Return includes 124 persons in the Union Workhouse.

[a] The entire Parish of St. Mary-de-Lode, which is partly in Dudstone and Kings Barton Hundred (Middle and Upper Divisions), contains 4,953 Inhabitants, and 3,510 Acres, exclusive of that portion of the area in the City of Gloucester.

[b] Part of St. Michael's Parish is in the Hundred of Dudstone and Kings Barton (Middle Division). The entire Parish contains 2,145 Inhabitants, and 500 Acres, exclusive of that portion of the area in the City of Gloucester.

[c] The Return for the Parish of St. Nicholas includes 84 persons in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, and 94 in barges.

[d] The Return for St. Owen's Parish includes the Hamlet of Littleworth, 174 persons in the Gloucester Infirmary, 74 in the City Prison, 8 in the Bridewell, and 41 in barges.

[e] The College Precincts adjoin the Parish of St. Mary-de-Lode.

* * The Liberty of Romney-Marsh extends into several of the Hundreds of the Lathe of Shepway, and into the Hundred of Blackbourne (Lathe of Scray), so that if the population of a Parish is not returned in its Hundred, it will be found under the Liberty of Romney-Marsh, which is inserted last of all in this Lathe. The Parishes comprising the Hundreds of Langport and St. Martin's Ivychurch (or Pountney), and Worth, with New Romney Cinque Port, are returned wholly in the said Liberty.

[f] The decrease of population in the Parishes of Benenden and Rolvenden since 1831 is attributed to emigration, 160 persons having emigrated from the former and 200 from the latter since 1831. The Return for Benenden includes 23, and that for Rolvenden 10 persons in barns or tents.

[g] The Return for the Parish of Sandhurst includes 85 persons in the Workhouse, and states 12 to have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[h] The Return for the Parish of Eastchurch includes 5 persons in barges, and states 22 to have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[i] The Return for the Parish of Minster-in-Sheppey includes 122 persons in the Sheppey Union Workhouse, and 432 in Sheerness Barracks; it also includes the site of the Ville of Sheerness, which, as a Ville, no longer exists, forming as it now does part of Her Majesty's Dock-yard. Thirteen persons are stated to have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[k] Since the disfranchisement of the Borough of Queenborough many of the houses have been deserted, which accounts for a decrease of its population. The Return includes 32 persons in boats.

[l] The Parish of Ebony is mostly in Oxney Hundred (Lathe of Shepway), where the whole area and population are returned.

[m] The Parish of Tenterden, which is in the Cinque Port Liberty of Hastings (Sussex), includes 158 persons in the Union Workhouse, 2 persons in the Gaol, and 8 in barns.

[n] The Return for Linstead includes 8 persons, and that for Teynham 2 in barns, and states 5 to have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[o] The Parish of Brook is mostly in Chart and Longbridge Hundred, where the whole population and area are returned.

[oo] The Town of Wye contains 1,061 Inhabitants.

[p] Part of the Parish of Brenzett is in Romney Marsh Liberty; the entire Parish contains 228 Inhabitants, and 1,740 Acres.

[q] Part of the Parish of Brookland is in Romney-Marsh Liberty, but wholly returned here. The Return states that 14 persons have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

[r] The Barony of Bircholt is sometimes attributed to the Lathe of Scray; the Barony contains Bircholt, Brabourne, and Hastingleigh; the Franchise contains Smeeth, and part of Aldington.

[s] Aldington Parish is partly in Romney Marsh Liberty; the entire Parish contains 733 Inhabitants, and 3,420 Acres.

[t] The Return for the Parishes of Aldington and Brabourne respectively include 13 and 5 persons in sheds. Brabourne includes the Hamlets of East and West Brabourne.

[u] The Return for the Parish of Smeeth includes the Hamlet of Ridgway.

[x] The Parish of Acrise is mostly in Loningborough Hundred, where the entire population and area are entered.

[y] The Return for Alkham Parish includes Reindein House, stated to be extra-parochial.

[z] The entire Parish of Cheriton, including 11 persons in Shorncliffe Barracks, contains 1,178 Inhabitants.

[a] The Chapelry of Sandgate is partly in the Parish of Cheriton, and partly in the Town of Folkestone, with which parish its area is included; the entire Chapelry contains 979 Inhabitants.

[b] Part of the Parish of Folkestone is independent of the Town of Folkestone, which has a separate jurisdiction; the entire Parish, including 4 persons in the Gaol, contains 4,413 Inhabitants and 4,360 Acres. The Town of Folkestone contains 3,723 Inhabitants, and 680 Acres.

The Return states that 10 and 14 persons respectively have emigrated from the Chapelry of Heapey and the Township of Whittle-le-Woods since 31st December 1840, and attributes the decrease of population (492) in the Township of Hoghton, to the breaking up of a large calico-printing establishment and the erection of a power-loom factory in its place.

n The entire Parish of Penwortham contains 5,498 Inhabitants, and 9,530 Acres.

o The increase of population in the Township of Farrington since 1831, arises from the erection of a cotton-mill and about 200 cottages, for those employed in the factory. In the Returns for the Townships of Farrington and Penwortham, and the Chapelry of Longton, 59 persons are stated to have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

p The entire Parish of Standish contains 8,686 Inhabitants, and 15,190 Acres. The increase of population in this Parish is attributed to the employment of a considerable number of labourers on the Bolton and Preston Railway.

q The Return for the Township of Charnock-Heath includes 22 persons in barges and 6 in tents; that for the Township of Standish-with-Langtree 8 in barns, &c.

qq The Return for Aldingham includes Gleaston and Leece, being divisions of the parish for repairing the highways and collecting rates.

r The entire Parish of Cartmel, including 5 persons in barges and 3 in tents in the Township of Upper Allithwaite forms the Chapelry of Lindale. The Township of Lower Holker forms the Chapelry of Flookburgh.

s The Parish of Colton includes the Chapelries of Haverthwaite and Rusland, and the Parochial Chapelry of Finsthwaite.

t The entire Parish of Dalton-in-Furness contains 3,231 Inhabitants, and 16,210 Acres.

u The Chapelry of Ireleth comprises the Above-Town Division, that of Walney, the Hawcoat Division, and that of Rampside, the Yarleside Division.

x The Return for the Chapelry of Walney includes the Islands of Piel, Barrow, and Walney (the latter contains 335 Inhabitants), also the Hamlet of Biggar, and 16 persons in tents.

y The entire Parish of Hawkshead contains 2,323 Inhabitants, and 2,220 Acres. The Skelwith part of the Township of Monk-Coniston and Skelwith contains 211 Inhabitants.

z The entire Parish of Kirkby Ireleth, including 30 persons in tents in the Chapelry of Woodland, &c., contains 8,449 Inhabitants, and 26,159 Acres. The Township of Dunnerdale pays poor-rates jointly with Seathwaite, but maintains its own highways.

a The extra-parochial place of Waitham Hill, &c., is adjacent to Broughton-in-Furness; in the Return of which the area (stated to be about 1,280 Acres), is supposed to be included.

The Return states, that about 70 persons were absent at sea, on board two Revenue Cutters. The Parliamentary Borough of Great Grimsby consists of the several Parishes of Great Grimsby, Great Coates, Little Coates, Bradley, Laceby, Waltham, Scartho, and Clee.—See Appendix.

Several of the Wards in the County of Northumberland have, by virtue of the Acts 9th Geo. IV. cap. 43, and 10th Geo. IV. cap. 46, been altered for the purpose of Special and Petty Sessions, but in the arrangement of the present Returns the ancient divisions have been adhered to, as they are still in use with reference to the laws respecting the Militia, Land and Assessed Taxes, and other County purposes.

[a] The entire Parish of Bambrough, or Bamburgh, contains 4,237 Inhabitants.

[b] The Return for the Township of Bambrough includes Fowberry, a place containing 4 houses and 11 persons, stated in 1831 to be extra-parochial, but now deemed part of the Township of Bambrough.

[c] The increase of population (72) in the Chapelry of Beadnell is attributed to the erection of lime-kilns and to the opening of a colliery.

[d] The Return for the Township of Shorestone includes 6 persons in tents.

[e] The Parish of Belford, and the Township of Elwick, are partly in Islandshire (County of Durham.) The entire Parish contains 1,789 Inhabitants, and 9,380 Acres; the entire Township 84 Inhabitants. The Return for the Township of Belford includes 17 persons in the Belford Union Workhouse.

[f] The entire Parish of Ellingham (including 12 persons in tents in the Township of Ellingham), contains 861 Inhabitants; the apparent decrease of population is owing to the Townships of Ditchburn and Shipley, in the Parish of Eglingham (Coquetdale Ward, North Division) having been erroneously included in the Return for Ellingham Parish in 1831.

[g] The entire Parish of Embleton contains 2,030 Inhabitants. The Return for the Township of Embleton includes 36 persons at an annual feast, and that for the Township of Dunston 5 in the open air.

[h] The entire Parish of Long Houghton contains 772 Inhabitants. The Return for Little Houghton includes Little Mill Hamlet, containing 39 Inhabitants; and that for Long-Houghton part of the Hamlet of Sandylands, the remainder of which is in the Township of Cartington, Rothbury Parish, West Division of Coquetdale Ward. The entire Hamlet contains 17 Inhabitants.

[i] The Parish of Lesbury extends into Coquetdale Ward (East) but is wholly returned here. The entire Parish contains 1,108 Inhabitants. The Townships of Bilton, Hawkhill, Lesbury, and Wooden, are united for the support of the poor, but are in other respects distinct Townships.

[k] The Return for the Township of Alemouth, or Alnmouth, includes 17 seamen in ships lying in the Port, and 28 visitors for sea-bathing.

k The Parish of Gosforth is partly in the East Division of Castle Ward; the entire Parish contains 3,020 Inhabitants, and 6,010 Acres.

l The Return for the Township of East Brunton includes 25 persons in tents. The decrease of population (287) in the Township of East and West Kenton, is attributed to the discontinuance of a colliery which was worked there in 1831.

m The Parish of Heddon-on-the-Wall, and the Township of Eachwick, are chiefly in the East Division of Tindale Ward; but the whole population of the Township is returned here; the entire Parish contains 753 Inhabitants, and 4,590 Acres.

n The entire Parish of St. John (which is partly in the Town of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, entered at the end of the County), contains 22,452 Inhabitants, and 2,200 Acres, exclusive of that portion of the area returned with the Town of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

o The Return for the Township of Elswick includes 381 persons in the Newcastle-upon-Tyne Union Workhouse.

p The Return for the Township of Westgate includes 27 persons in the Female Penitentiary. The great increase of population (7,493) is attributed to the opening of a colliery and stone quarries, the establishment of a glue manufactory, and to its being a suburb of the Town of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

q The Parish of Mitford is mostly in the West Division of Morpeth Ward; the entire Parish contains 733 Inhabitants, and 9,790 Acres.

r The Parish of Morpeth is partly in the East Division of Castle Ward, but mostly in the West Division of Morpeth Ward; the entire Parish contains 4,237 Inhabitants, and 7,600 Acres.

The Return for the Township of East Denton includes Scotswood Village, containing 96 Inhabitants.

u The entire Township of High-Callerton (which is partly in the Parishes of Newburn and Ponteland), contains 131 Inhabitants. Its area is included in that of the Parish of Ponteland.

[a] The entire Parish of Baswich contains 1,438 Inhabitants, and 6,200 Acres. The Return for Acton-Trussel includes 10 persons in barges, and that for Baswich 5 in barns, and 27 other strangers.

[b] The entire Parish of Brewood (including 65 persons in Penkridge Union Workhouse and 23 in barges) contains 3,641 Inhabitants, and 11,930 Acres. The Township of Brewood comprises the Liberties of Chillingford, Somerford, Bishops'-Wood, and Kiddermore-Green. Coven Liberty is partly in the Parish of Bushbury (Seisdon, North Hundred); the entire Liberty contains 798 Inhabitants, the area is wholly returned here.

[c] The Parish of Bushbury is mostly in the North Division of Seisdon Hundred, where the whole area is returned; the entire Parish contains 1,509 Inhabitants.

[d] The entire Parish of Cannock contains 2,852 Inhabitants. Hednesford, Leacroft, and Cannock-Wood, are distinct Townships for highway purposes only. The area of Cannock includes that of Cheslyn-Hay, extra-parochial.

[e] The entire Parish of Castle-Church (including 5 persons in barges) contains 1,484 Inhabitants.

[g] The Parish of Penkridge is partly in the West Division of the Hundred; the entire Parish contains 3,129 Inhabitants, and 18,020 Acres; the area is wholly here returned. The Return for the Township of Penkridge includes the Liberties of Levedale, Longridge, Lynehill, Mitton, Otherton, Penkridge, Pillaton, Rodbaston, Water-Eaton, Whiston and Bickford, and Wolgarstone; also the area of the Townships of Hatherton and Kinvaston (Wolverhampton Parish), and 49 persons in barges.

[h] The Return for the Parish of Rugeley includes 43 persons in barges and tents, and 77 strangers attending the fair; also part of the Village of Brereton, the remainder being in the Parishes of Longdon and Armitage, in the Southern Division of Offlow Hundred.

[l] The Parish of Wolverhampton is partly in Offlow Hundred, South, but mostly in that of Seisdon, North; the entire Parish contains 70,370 Inhabitants. The great increase of population since 1831 (22,186) is attributed partly to the flourishing state of the iron trade, and partly to early marriages of colliers and miners.

[m] The Return for the Parish of Bradley includes the Liberties of Billington and Woollaston.

[n] The Return for the Parish of Church-Eaton includes the Hamlets of Marston, Wood Eaton, Little Oun, High Oun, Goose-Moor, Orslow, and Eaton Green.

The decrease of population (934 persons) in the Parish of Gnosall since 1831 is attributed to the completion of a canal which was being made at that period.

[q] The entire Parish of Lapley (including 8 persons in barns in Wheaton-Aston Chapelry) contains 952 Inhabitants, and 3,740 Acres.

[r] The entire Parish of Norbury contains 353 Inhabitants; the area includes that of Knightley Quarter (Gnosal Parish). Loynton, returned in 1831 as a Township in the Parish of High Offley, where the area is still included, is stated to be in Pirehill (North) Hundred.

[s] The Parish of Penkridge is mostly in the East Division of Cuttlestone Hundred, where the whole area is returned; the entire Parish contains 3,129 Inhabitants.

a The Return for the Township of High Offley includes the Hamlets of Shebdon and Woodseaves. Loynton, which was returned as a Township in the Parish of High Offley in 1831, proves to be a Hamlet in the Township of Weston Jones, Parish of Norbury (Cuttlestone, West, Hundred), where the population is now entered; the area is still included here. The decrease of population (101) since 1831, is attributed to the completion of a canal which was being made at that period.

b The entire Parish of Stoke-upon-Trent contains 46,342 Inhabitants; the area includes that of Bucknall-cum-Bagnall. The Parliamentary Borough of Stoke-upon-Trent consists of the several Townships of Boothen, Tunstall, Burslem, Hanley, Shelton, Fenton-Vivian, Lane-End, Fenton-Culvert and Longton, and part of the Township of Penkhull, the Ville of Rushton-Grange, and the Hamlet of Sneyd. For the population, see Appendix. The Townships of Great and Little Fenton comprise Lane Delph.

c The Return for the Chapelry of Hanley includes a place called Northwood, containing 700 Inhabitants.

d The Chapelries of Lane-End and Longton constitute the Town of Lane-End and Longton, which appoints its own civil officers and manages its own local affairs, with the exception of relieving the poor. The Return for Longton includes 14 persons in pits and 3 in tents, and states that 24 have emigrated since 31st December 1840.

e The Township of Penkhull is partly within the Parliamentary Borough of Newcastle-under-Lyme, but is wholly entered here. The Return includes 246 persons in Spittals Workhouse, and 5 in barges.

f The Return for the Chapelry of Shelton includes 67 persons in North Staffordshire Infirmary, and 116 in boats; also a place called Etruria, and part of the Village of Corbridge, the remainder being in the Parish of Burslem.

g The Return for the Parish of Swinnerton includes the Townships of Acton, Hatton, Shelton, Swinnerton, and Yarnfield, parts of the Hamlets of Millstone-Green and Stableford (the other parts being respectively in the Parishes of Trentham and Eccleshall), and part of the Township of Beech, the remainder of which is in the Parish of Stone, South Division of the Hundred.

h The entire Parish of Trentham contains 2,567 Inhabitants, and 6,900 Acres. The Return for the Chapelry of Hanford includes 85 workmen temporarily employed at Trentham Hall, and that for the Township of Butterton, part of the Hamlet of Millstone-Green, the remainder being in the Parish of Swinnerton.

i The entire Parish of Wolstanton contains 16,575 Inhabitants. The Return includes the Villages of Sandyford, Greenfield, Kidsgrove, Wainlee, Harriseahead, Mole-Cop, Dales-Green, and Golden-Hill, also 135 persons in Wolstanton and Burslem Union Workhouse, 40 in boats, and 6 in barns. The Townships of Oldcott, Ranscliff, and Tunstall, form an ecclesiastical district called "the District Parish of Tunstall;" and the Townships of Brieryhurst, Chell, Stadmoreslow, Thursfield, and Wedgwood, comprise the Chapelry of Thursfield or Newchapel. The great increase of population in the Parish (5,722) since 1831, is attributed to the opening of several coal and iron-mines, and the increasing prosperity of the manufactories in the neighbourhood.

k The entire Parish of Blithfield contains 390 Inhabitants and 4,180 Acres.

l The area of Chartley-Holme is included in that of Stowe Parish.

m The entire Parish of Chebsey contains 442 Inhabitants, and 3,760 Acres.

n The Parish of Colton includes Lea Lane and the Village of Newland.

o The entire Parish of Colwich (including 9 persons in boats, in the Township of Colwich) contains 2,024 Inhabitants. The Townships of Great Haywood, Little Haywood, Drointon, and Hixon, are partly in the Parish of Stowe; the entire Townships contain respectively 765, 519, 162, and 625 Inhabitants. The Chapelry of Fradswell contains 1,410 Acres. The Return for the Township of Great Haywood includes the Hamlet of Swanmoor, and that for the Township of Little Haywood, Mount Priory, containing 44 persons,
